2024 SA Prevocational Medical Education Excellence Awards, Team Culture Award joint winners

INTRODUCTION

Education and training are a cornerstone of SA Health's commitment to providing high quality, innovative healthcare to all South Australians.

The South Australian Medical Education and Training (SA MET) Unit is pleased to announce the South Australian Prevocational Medical Education Excellence Awards 2026.

In 2025, SA MET hosted the third South Australian Prevocational Medical Education Excellence Awards to recognise and celebrate the outstanding dedication to high quality medical education and training across our Local Health Networks (LHNs). The calibre of the nominees was such that multiple categories resulted in joint-winners.

Last year's prestigious dinner attracted over 250 attendees including trainee medical officers, senior clinical and non-clinical educators and trainers from all LHNs, and members of major South Australian universities. In attendance were also esteemed guests including the Hon Chris Picton MP, South Australian Minister for Health and Wellbeing; Dr Robyn Lawrence, Chief Executive, Department for Health and Wellbeing; and Professor Kevin Forsyth, Presiding Member of the SA MET Health Advisory Council

SOUTH AUSTRALIAN PREVOCATIONAL MEDICAL EDUCATION EXCELLENCE AWARDS 2026

For the fourth year running we are delighted to recognise the many innovative and excellent quality prevocational medical education teams and individuals across SA Health. This year we will continue to recognise these individuals and groups across seven award categories. We are delighted to announce the event will again be attended by Dr Robyn Lawrence, Chief Executive, Department for Health and Wellbeing.

South Australian winners of the Confederation of Postgraduate Medical Education Councils (CPMEC) Awards will again be celebrated at this event. Since 2010, the CPMEC Award has been presented annually to prevocational doctors and clinical educators across Australia and New Zealand recognising those who have made a major contribution to improving prevocational medical education and training.

Building on the incredible success of last year's awards ceremony dinner, we know 2026 will surpass in terms of nominees, attendance, and celebrated winners. Our goal is to make each year better than the last. We would greatly benefit from your support, with a generous contribution helping us to successfully raise the profile of medical education in the prevocational realm.

Dr Nadee Assiriyage, accepting her award from the 2025 Minister for Health and Wellbeing, the Hon Chris Picton

WHY PARTNER WITH US?

The South Australian Prevocational Medical Education Excellence Awards provides a unique opportunity to acknowledge and celebrate the outstanding, state-wide achievements in the prevocational medical education and training sphere.

This prestigious annual awards event is now in its fourth year and going from strength to strength, recognising the contributions to education and training for our prevocational doctors. This year, we will continue to recognise our seven categories of excellence and will again incorporate the presentation of the South Australian winners of the CPMEC Awards – Clinical Educator of the Year Award 2026, and Prevocational Doctor of the Year Award 2026.

As a sponsor, you will be recognised for your support through opportunities to:

- Promote your product or service related to education, training, or career development.
- Increase awareness of your organisation's brand and reputation in the community.
- Network, build and strengthen relationships with health industry colleagues and the higher education community.
- Demonstrate your involvement and support of the prevocational education and training community.
- Acknowledge and celebrate prevocational medical education and training at the awards dinner, to be held on Friday, 25 September 2026, attended by industry leaders, university deans and members of parliament.

Our sponsorship opportunities are designed to be a valuable investment in your brand, and your generous contribution will ensure the continued success in celebrating and recognising the ongoing achievements of the hardworking educators and trainers of prevocational medical officers in SA Health.

All sponsors will be offered complimentary tickets to the SA Prevocational Medical Education Excellence Awards dinner to further provide opportunities to increase your profile within the health sector and advance your network capability.

“It was wonderful to see nominees from both rural hospitals and rural GP clinics across South Australia so strongly represented at the Awards, and the RACGP was honoured to support the attendance of these outstanding trainees.”

– Jane Longmire, RACGP, 2025 Rural Trainee Sponsor

AUDIENCE PROFILE

The South Australian Prevocational Medical Education Excellence Awards brings together an invested and influential audience of doctors in training, senior clinicians, and prevocational medical educators responsible for shaping the future medical workforce to recognise and celebrate innovations and achievements across our health networks.

OUR AUDIENCE INCLUDES

- Senior health executives and invited dignitaries
- Prevocational doctors (primarily PGY1 and PGY2)
- Directors of Clinical Training and Medical Education Officers
- Senior clinicians and consultants actively involved in teaching and supervision
- Medical workforce and education leaders
- University representatives and academic partners
- All those involved in supporting prevocational medical education across South Australia

This event attracts representation from metropolitan, regional, and rural health services, reflecting the breadth of South Australia's medical training network.

WHY THIS AUDIENCE MATTERS

- Prevocational doctors represent the next generation of medical leaders. They are future consultants, clinical directors, and health decision-makers. Engaging with this cohort early in their careers provides sponsors with the opportunity to build long-term brand recognition and professional relationships.
- In addition, the awards dinner connects sponsors with the senior educators, workforce planners, and health leaders who influence training pathways, professional development opportunities, and sector partnerships across South Australia.
- It provides a unique setting where emerging doctors and established leaders come together in a professional yet celebratory environment, creating meaningful networking opportunities and strong brand alignment with excellence in medical education.
