About the Eyre and Far North Local Health Network

Introduction

We invite you to become part of a collegiate, committed, multidisciplinary team within the Eyre and Far North Local Health Network (EFNLHN) offering a full year of PGY2+ Rural Generalist / General Training Program based at the Port Lincoln Hospital and Health Service. This program is specially aimed to provide Trainee Medical Officers (TMO) experience at the Postgraduate Year 2 level (PGY2+) and beyond.

There are opportunities within the Rural Generalist / General Training Program General Training Program and General Practice Program to undertake rotations in Emergency, General Practice / Anaesthetics, General Practice / Emergency, General Practice / Obstetrics, and Medicine Inpatients, General Surgery and Emergency/ Radiology. This Training program will set you up well for a Rural Generalist career into the future.

We invite you to become a valued member of the healthcare team in addition to local community in Port Lincoln, Ceduna, Cummins and Tumbby Bay.

This position can be undertaken as part of rural generalist training with either ACRRM or RACGP. Preferences will be given to applicants committed to a career in rural and remote practice in either a primary care or hospital-based setting, or a combination of both.

Eyre and Far North Local Health Network (EFNLHN)

What can you expect from EFNLHN

Does this program meet RACGP and ACRRM Training Requirements?

Yes.

RACGP Trainees will be able to spend at least 75% of their year in Hospital to meet the requirements of the College hospital year.

ACRRM Trainees are guaranteed to achieve two of the three core clinical experiences (Anaesthetics, Paediatrics and Obstetrics) as required by college during this year. No metropolitan program can guarantee this clinical experience for ACRRM trainees. The Paediatrics clinical experience is through management of paediatric patients in the Emergency Department and follows through if they require admissions.

Where will I be based? Will I be expected to travel to other country locations?

Trainees will spend at least 6 months in the primary location of Port Lincoln at one of the many rotations offered within the township. Trainees however have the opportunity to undertake rotations in the rural towns of Tumby Bay, Cummins and Ceduna. During rotations away from the primary site, accommodation costs are covered to ensure trainees are not financially disadvantaged.

What are the key outcomes of the program?

The program aims to provide TMOs with key experiences in the management of patients in the rural setting. A comprehensive experience in rural general practice, providing both primary care and inpatient care to local communities.

The Core Clinical experiences are mapped to the requirements of RACGP and ACRRM.

TMOs will acquire a more 'hands-on' experience in all aspects of patient-care including procedural skills and management of critical patients under close supervision and support of senior staff.

This will serve as an excellent pathway into Rural Generalist Training or those intending to pursue general practice as well as other specialist training.

An Advanced Skills Training post in Obstetrics is available for PGY3+.

Are contracts renewed every 12 months? If I want to stay on for an extra year, do I have to apply again?

This program involves a 3-year commitment with a 12-month probation period within the EFNLHN.

What education is provided?

Compulsory education sessions are conducted weekly on Thursday afternoons. These include a combination of skill sessions, simulation lab time, guest speakers and tutorials covering a range of topics across the year. Additionally, the MEU links in with the nursing education team for sessions including:

- ALS (Advanced Life Support),
- PROMPT (Practical Obstetric Multi-Professional Training)
- NALS (Neonatal Assisted Life Support) and
- OGET (Obstetrics and Gynaecology Education and Training).

Furthermore, Professional Development specialised sessions are held sporadically throughout the year including:

- CRASH (Critical, Resuscitation, Advanced life support, Simulation and Skills Training),
- ALS 2 and
- EMET (Emergency Medicine Education and Training).

In addition to set education, the MEU houses a range of medical texts to aid self-directed learning and the simulation lab is freely available to practice skills such as CPR, cannulation, plastering and catheterisation.

How will supervision be provided? Will this vary from rotation to rotation?

TMOs will work under close supervision and support of registrars and General Practitioners, consultants, and term supervisors. Rural General Practitioners are particularly dedicated teachers and mentors; this ensures a highly consistent level of supervision between rotations.

What other support is provided?

The Executive Director of Medical Service, Director of Clinical Training and Medical Education Officer are available for professional, administrative, and welfare support. The Medical Education unit has an open-door policy where TMOs are encouraged to discuss any issues or concerns. With Medical Education Staff not being located close to the site of all rotations, video conferencing and routine visits will facilitate the support provided out of Port Lincoln Hospital.

Will the TMO supervise interns/others in their role?

TMOs may be required to assist in the learning experience of medical students from the University of Adelaide and interns based in Port Lincoln and those who are on rotation to Port Lincoln Hospital. In such instances, a senior supervisor will always be present and on-site.

Rotations at Eyre and Far North Local Health Network

The rotations of the Eyre and Far North Local Health Network are designed to provide a range of clinical experiences that are high quality and truly representational of rural medicine.

Each trainee will rotate through a combination of the following rotations:

- > Emergency – Port Lincoln Hospital and Health Service
- > Medical Inpatients – Port Lincoln Hospital and Health Service
- > General Surgery – Port Lincoln Hospital and Health Service
- > Emergency/ Radiology- Post Lincoln Health Service
- > Rural Generalism – Ceduna
- > Rural Generalism – Tumby Bay
- > General Practice / Emergency – Cummins
- > General Practice / Anaesthetics – Port Lincoln (Boston Bay Family Health)
- > General Practice / Obstetrics – Port Lincoln (Boston Bay Family Health)
- > General Practice / Aged Care / ED – Port Lincoln (Investigator Clinic)
- > Aboriginal Health – Port Lincoln (Port Lincoln Aboriginal Health Service)

Accommodation and travel assistance is provided when completing a rotation away from your primary location.

Frequently Asked Questions

I am unsure about moving to the country. Can I visit to look at the facilities prior to finalising my preferences?

We would encourage you to visit our beautiful cities and enjoy the rural hospitality. Please let us know if you are planning a visit so that we can facilitate this, for example, with a tour of the hospital, and point you in the direction of touring and entertainment.

Port Lincoln is situated in the Eyre Peninsula and is home to the largest commercial fishing fleet in the southern hemisphere, and as such is a tourist dream. Port Lincoln is the ideal balance between the vibrant lifestyle of a small city and comforts of a small town, between cultural progress and tradition, and between modern conveniences and the preservation of natural beauty – be it our dramatic coastlines, or our attractions such as Memory Cove white sandy beaches or exploring Whalers Way or cage diving with sharks.

Ceduna is located on the shores of Murat Bay on the west coast of Eyre Peninsula. Ceduna is the major centre to a large and diverse business and industry sector on the Far West Coast. It is home to a robust oyster industry with surrounding Denial Bay and Smokey Bay together they supply almost half of South Australia's Oyster, which is why Ceduna has earned itself the title of "Oyster Capital of Australia". Ceduna Has a vibrant, multicultural community and provides a full range of shopping, banking, and business services.

Cummins is located 65km north of Port Lincoln and in the very heart of the Lower Eyre Peninsula and is the perfect rural setting between spectacular coastlines. Cummins is surrounded by rich, undulating farmland. It is home to major beef and sheep farming and cereal grain growing and is the agricultural hub of the Lower Eyre Peninsula. The town's unique layout sees a dual railway cut through the centre of town, which is a constant reminder of what makes the wheel turn in the region. Cummins offers a range of goods and services from delicious food, retail outlets and recreation facilities.

Tumby Bay is a coastal town situated on the beautiful Spencer Gulf, 45km north of Port Lincoln. It has a rich history of agriculture, known for its high-quality produce of cereal crops, canola and sheep. Not to mention it's breath-taking scenery of rolling farmlands that meet the sea. It has a rich community spirit that hosts the 'Colour Tumby' festival annually. You can dive with the leafy sea dragons, take in the beautiful silo art or visit the Sir Joseph Banks Group of Islands for some of the best fishing on the Eyre Peninsula, beautiful scenic walking trails, and boasts to have one of the best bakeries on the Eyre Peninsula.

Will accommodation be provided?

Accommodation is provided for the first 6-months of placement, free of charge in one of the EFNLHN houses. Alternatively, TMO's can be provided with the sum of $10,000 to go towards their accommodation costs. After this time rental expenses will need to be covered by TMO's. You will find rentals very affordable compared with the metropolitan area, with prices subsidized heavily.

Will I be supported with relocation expenses?

We appreciate that moving house can put a strain on your finances, particularly prior to starting your new job. Please contact us to discuss what relocation support may be available and what documentation you will need to supply.

Will I need my own transport?

Yes, in regional and rural locations, private transport is crucial as public transport is limited and unreliable. Do I need to arrange for a carpark? The good news is that parking in all rural cities and towns are currently free of charge. Some areas require permits and time limits, but generally it is easy to park in or around the Hospital and University precincts. There is a secure staff car park on the Hospital site.

Can I get decent coffee and food?

Yes and yes.

Port Lincoln is renowned as Australia's Seafood Frontier for a reason, and the strong seafood industry is one of the highlights. Freshly shucked oysters straight from the pristine waters, locally caught prawns, tuna, mussels, and assorted fish, making fish and chips ever so appealing. With award winning restaurants and good local wine, it's definitely a great place to eat and drink. The problem will be what to choose!

Ceduna offers a range of dining options featuring regional produce inspired by freshness and seasonality. Restaurants, Cafes', and hotels provide something for everyone. There is a wide range of cuisines on offer and real baristas.

Cummins offer a range of dining options from the local hotel, bakery, and locally owned and operated business offering fresh and local produce.

Tumby bay offer a range of dining options from the local hotel, bakery, and locally owned and operated business offering fresh and local produce.

What is there to do in the areas?

Port Lincoln The benefits of being on the Eyre Peninsula is discovering rich Indigenous heritage to unique street art and epic silo murals. Climb the ancient rock formations, hike in our many parks and swim in rock pools after picnicking on sandy beaches. Port Lincoln has the epic Gawler Ranges and a huge variety of flora and fauna. You can discover the amazing granite outcrops such as the Organ Pipes, Murphy's Haystacks, the huge Mt Wudinna granite monolith, or the spectacular Pildappa Rock. The Eyre Peninsula boasts some of the cleanest waters in the world, and some of the most unique marine life. You can swim with sea lions, dolphins, giant Cuttlefish, or dive down and look for Leafy Sea Dragons and spot Southern Right Whales in the Great Australian Bight. You can wine and dine in award winning restaurants and experience the exciting range of the local fresh food and wine.

Ceduna The region offers a huge choice of coastlines for outdoor activities such as scuba diving, snorkeling, sailing, surfing, or skiing. Fish for the delicious King George whiting, explore the outback or the Nullarbor. With diverse scenery beauty varies from outback wilderness to untouched coastline and cast away islands. Ceduna is set amidst a patchwork of grain farms, natural bush, and rugged rocky bays, secluded white sandy beaches and ever-changing seas. It has the reputation as an ideal tourist destination, with its abundant seafood, footprint-free beaches and wilderness, spectacular sunsets, whale watching and most of all friendly people. You can walk footprint free shores, dive into turquoise waters and feast on fresh seafood plucked straight from the ocean. Ceduna is the last major town before you hit the Nullarbor, it sits perfectly positioned for whale watching on the Great Australian Bight and is a stone's throw away from some of the Eyre Peninsula's best beaches. Explore rockpools and plunge into the crystal waters of Shelley Beach just five minutes from town or road trip an hour and discover the insta-famous pink waters of Lake MacDonnell. If you love oysters then welcome to paradise, Ceduna and nearby Smokey Bay produce almost half of South Australia' oysters.

Cummins This region offers the perfect place to base yourself to not only explore the local agricultural area, but also to travel a little further afield, and check out the multitude of beautiful beaches, salt lakes and rugged coastline. Depending on the time of year you will find sweeping vista of canola, ripe wheat field or beautiful green barley crops surrounding the town. You can visit some of the local museums, take a scenic drive, grab a meal at the local hotel and see what it is like living in a beautiful part of the world. Cummins is a vibrant, engaging community which embraces its agricultural heritage and enjoys life within a clean, green landscape. Discover more about where your food comes from, taste the products grown on the land in the surrounding area. Take a short drive to the region's various beaches or stroll down the main street and explore, meet the locals of this friendly country town centrally located within the seafood frontier on the Lower Eyre Peninsula.

Tumby Bay A Hidden Gem for Nature and Adventure Lovers, if you're looking for a peaceful and vibrant place, Tumby Bay is a must-visit destination. Nestled along the pristine coastline, the town offers a perfect balance of relaxation and adventure for everyone. The crystal-clear blue waters are a paradise for water enthusiasts, with activities like swimming, sailing, diving, rock fishing, boating, and jetty jumping. The Tumby Bay jetty is a particular highlight, home to the fascinating leafy sea dragons, and offers a fantastic spot for fishing and sightseeing. Beyond the water, Tumby Bay's charming historic buildings and scenic landscapes make it a perfect destination for those who love a bit of history and nature. There are plenty of walking trails for bushwalking, bird watching, and enjoying stunning lookouts. For culture lovers, the town is rich in heritage, with notable attractions like the C.L. Alexander National Trust Museum and the Excell Blacksmith and Engineering Museum. The vibrant art scene is another highlight, with the Rotunda Art Gallery and the Tumby Bay Cottage Crafts showcasing local arts, crafts, and homemade produce. Be sure to take a stroll around town and admire the impressive street and silo art that adds a modern twist to this beautiful coastal town. For a more unique experience, jump on Story's Clydesdale Horse and Trolley tours to explore the town's rich history in a memorable way. And of course, the food in Tumby Bay doesn't disappoint – whether it's fresh local seafood or the delicious treats from the local bakery, there's something to satisfy every craving. If you're up for an adventure, consider booking a charter boat fishing trip to the famous Sir Joseph Banks Group of Islands or enjoy some sightseeing along the limestone-capped shorelines and the drying reefs that make for an unforgettable view. With its combination of history, art, and outdoor activities, Tumby Bay truly has something for everyone.
